Shooting In Jasper

Jasper National Park . . . 4,200 square miles . . . is the largest national park in North America. It is a wild animal sanctuary and the only shooting allowed is with the camera. But what shooting! If you want big game, in either stills or movies, you can get thrilling sport . . . Follow the high-stepping mountain goat and sheep . . . go on the trail of moose, elk or caribou . . . as for deer, they are so tame that you are just as likely to meet them at your front door as out on the trail. And the comical bears are almost as neighborly . . . You won't give all your film to animals, of course . . . Not with those photogenic mountains all around you . . . rolling green slopes; tall, snowclad peaks; rivers of ice . . . like the Angel Glacier of Mount Edith Cavell shown in the photograph on the front cover of this menu . . . sparkling lakes, swift rivers in deep canyons . . . All the glories of the Rockies are laid before you in Jasper. And Jasper Park Lodge, with its charming, comfortable bungalows, its good food, its magnificent golf course, its tennis courts, its outdoor heated swimming pool, with all the amenities of civilized vacation living, is ready to welcome you.
