Canada's Atlantic provinces are rich in natural beauty and historic associations. Typical of the region's attractions are rock-bound Peggy's Cove and the romantic Land of Evangeline in Nova Scotia. New Brunswick boasts the verdant valleys of the Saint John River; Prince Edward Island, Cradle of Confederation, has miles of sunny beaches. Newfoundland visitors are captivated by the scenic charm of the Avalon Peninsula. Tradition-minded descendants of Acadians, Scottish Highlanders and United Empire Loyalists people these provinces by the sea. Let a Canadian National representative help you arrange an east coast vacation.
