Photographing Canada's erect, red-coated Mounties is a popular pastime for the thousands of visitors who stop off in Ottawa each year. From famous Parliament Hill, travellers admire a panoramic view of government buildings such as the tall Peace Tower; or the Chateau Laurier, a Canadian National Hotel of Distinction and the historic Ottawa River. Adding to the delight of a visit to Ottawa are its flower-decked parkways and the gently-flowing Rideau Canal. Next time you travel, be sure to include Canada's stately capital city in your vacation schedule.
