

The S.S. "Prince George", registered in Canada, meets International Safety Standards for new ships developed in 1960 and meets the 1966 fire safety requirements.

SAFETY INFORMATION

That's the way it is aboard the S.S. "Prince George", the good life. Fun and games on board too. Table tennis, horse racing and deck games. Music, dancing and parties. Meals fit for a king — five a day, including hearty, tasty snacks. Seven decks and eight lounges geared to living. Intriguing ports of call... Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Juneau, Skagway, Wrangell and Alert Bay (when the tide is right — and it usually is). With exciting shore-side excursions available. Imagine you... standing on the Red Dog Saloon... following the Trail of '98 to Lake Bennett (on the delightful narrow gauge White Pass and Yukon railway)... driving a bargain in the souvenir stores.

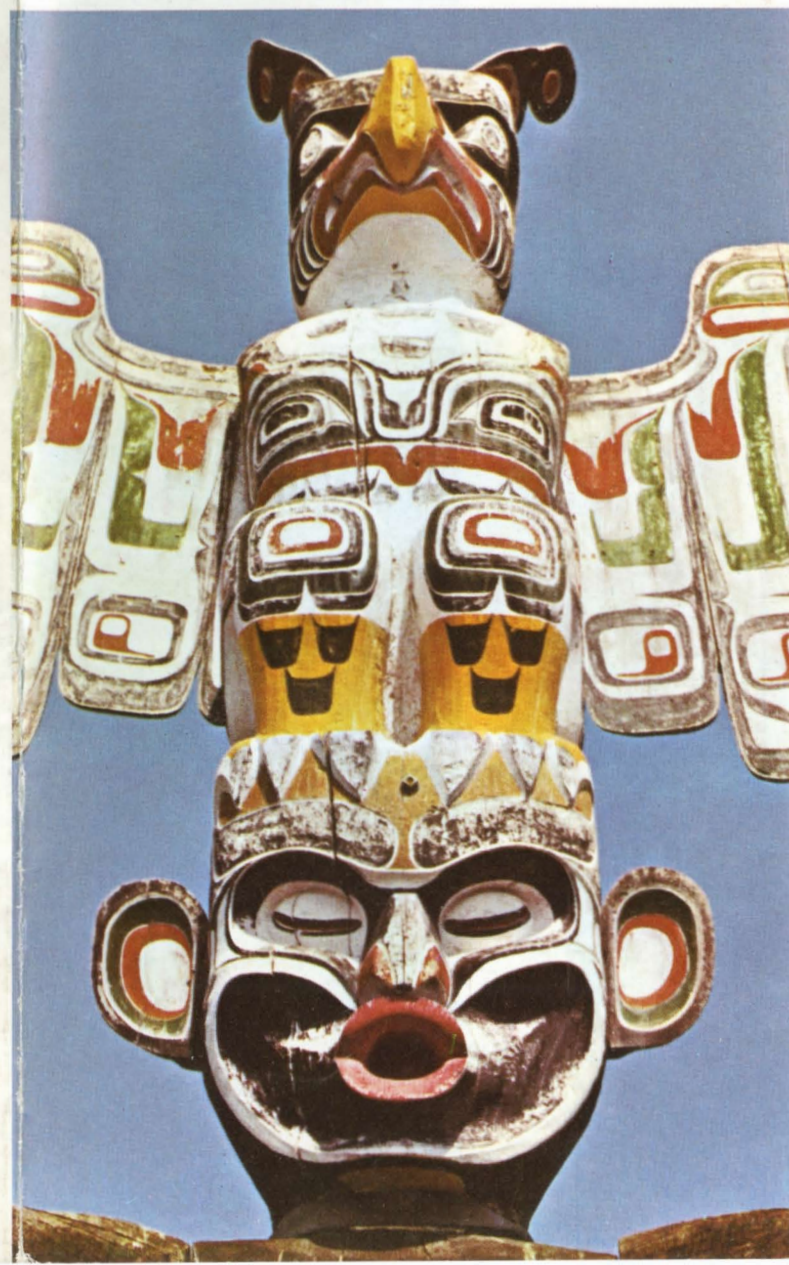

Outrageously, 2,000 miles of scenery so spectacular you at every turn. Eight glorious days of being pampered vista of mountains and water. New enjoyment awaits through the sheltered Inside Passage — a dramatic Relaxing... friendly... full of fun. Destination — Alaska.

come aboard and meet your new friends

CN Alaska!

CN Alaska Cruises 1970

Cruising on land is fun in CN's comfortable trains. Good times, good food, and a chance to really see Canada. Sceneramic cars through the Rockies add an extra dimension to the view.

North... to Alaska!

The very words have an exciting ring to them. North to Alaska... frontier of adventure. A land of legend, part fact, part fiction. Soapy Smith... and Dangerous Dan McGrew. Klondike Kate... and "the lady who's known as Lou". Gold fever rampant... the diggers for gold — and the gold-diggers! Rags to riches for some... high hopes to heartbreak for many. This was Alaska.

And before the Trail of '98, before Dick Harris and Joe Juneau discovered gold? There were the seafarers... Americans, Russians, Britons, Spaniards. And before them the Eskimos. And long before all of them, the Ice Age. Gigantic glaciers, gouging into the land the fiords and fingerlings. This was Alaska.

Silent forests... still waters... majestic mountains. This is Alaska today. Bustling, active towns... eager, lively people. This is Alaska today.

Come, cruise the sheltered Inside Passage with us. Breath-takingly beautiful... spectacularly scenic... Alaska is calling you.

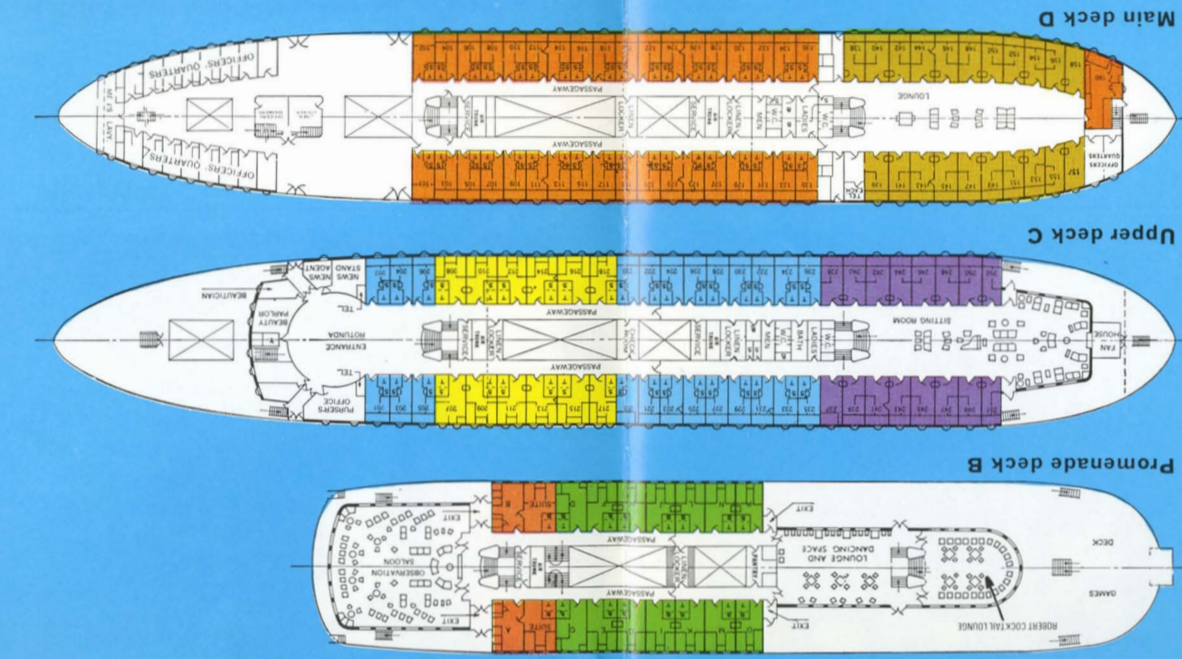

For lively entertainment and dancing every evening, drop in at the new David Lounge Piano Bar (Lower Deck 'F').

Relax with your favourite beverage in the Robert Lounge (Promenade Deck 'B'), where the panoramic view is spectacular.

- Deck Accommodation
- W Special: Family room: Two lower berths (one of which folds away), foldaway upper, fourth and fifth persons accommodated in lower and upper-bunk rooms. Minimum of 2 adult persons.
 - R Deluxe Suite: Tub-bath and shower, toilet, sitting-room, luggage-room, "A" and "B".
 - D Deluxe Suite: Tub-bath and shower, toilet, sitting-room, luggage-room, "A" and "B".
 - S Deluxe Suite: Tub-bath and shower, toilet, sitting-room, luggage-room, "A" and "B".
 - T Special: Two lower berths (one of which folds away), shower, toilet, Room 201 to 206 inclusive.
 - U Standard: Two lower berths (one of which folds away), shower, toilet, Room 219 and 220 to 228 inclusive.
 - V Standard: Two lower berths (one of which folds away), shower, toilet, Room 219 and 220 to 228 inclusive.
 - Z Standard: One fold-away bed and one fold-away upper, sofa seat for day use, Rooms 155 to 158 to 154 inclusive.

NOTES ON ACCOMMODATIONS — Minimum of 2 adult persons for all rooms, except Family Room. A third person may be accommodated at an additional charge, placed in sitting-room of the deluxe suites; three-berth rooms are more suitable for families, or three persons of same party, otherwise they are not assigned to more than two persons. Deluxe suites and deluxe cabins are sold only on room basis.

Route of the S.S. "Prince George" to

Alaska

VANCOUVER: Largest city in British Columbia and starting point of the S.S. "Prince George" cruise to Alaska through the scenic Inside Passage. The ship sails out of the harbour under the Lions Gate bridge and past the two mighty lions, carved in granite and mounting eternal guard over the city.

PRINCE RUPERT: An island city is British Columbia's most northerly seaport and the western terminus of Canadian National's northern line from Jasper, Alberta, and the east. This thriving city is an important fishing centre and a principal supply port for the lumbering and mining industries of B.C. and Alaska. It is the site of CN's rail car ferry slip for cargoes destined to Alaska. A stop is also made on southbound trip.

KETCHIKAN: The first Alaskan city on the cruise is known as the Salmon Capital of the World and is located on Revillagigedo Island. The port of entry for more than 90 per cent of vessels entering Alaskan waters, it is a centre of a large fishing, timber and mineral area. Two totem parks, one at the picturesque native village of Saxman and the other at Mud Bight Totem Park, contain some of the finest totems in the world.

JUNEAU: Rumors of gold attracted Joe Juneau and Richard Harris to this area in the 1880's. Today the city of 13,500 is the seat of government in Alaska and is called America's most scenic capital city. Famed Mendenhall Glacier and beautiful Auke Lake are nearby.

SKAGWAY: This early gold rush city was the starting point of the "Trail of '98" and the headquarters of notorious "Soapy" Smith and his gang. The colorful past is preserved in many old buildings now open to the public.

WRANGELL: One of the oldest communities in southeastern Alaska, Wrangell was founded on an island at the mouth of the Stikine River by the Russian Baron Wrangell in 1834. Its thriving industries include sawmills and fish canneries and it is the centre of a trapping and hunting area.

ALERT BAY: (Stop will be made if tidal conditions and weather are favourable) A small community on the Island of Cormorant, between the northern tip of Vancouver Island and the mainland, Alert Bay dates back to 1870. The Kwa Kwa La Arts and Crafts present authentic Indian dances of the Kwagutl Nation in the Nimpkish Community Lodge House.

