SOURDOUGH'S LAMENT

*When I was a Klondike highroller
I tilted my poke with the best
And though the climate might be polar,
I'd plenty of hair on my chest.
Now while I've no trace of rheumatics,
And maybe I shouldn't complain,
I'm worried because I just ain't what I was,
And I wish I was eighty again.*

*I still have my love for the ladies,
Chuck grandmummies under the chin;
Yet having a horror of Hades
I'm kind of allergic to sin.
Aye, though the hooch-bird be singing,
I'm deaf to its dulcet refrain:
When the going gets rude you've just gotta be good,
Gee, I wish I was eighty again.*

*Some claim that the nineties are naughty,
Them statements I grieve to reverse;
You've got to be humble, not haughty
To the giggity-jog of the hearse.
I blink at a blonde in bikini,
I shrink at the wink of Champagne,
But reforming, by heck, what a pain in the neck!
I wish I was eighty again.*

Back: Flowers bloom bigger,
better and beautifully
in summertime Alaska.

Front: Chief Shakes lived here.
The home of the one-time,
old-time Indian VIP
is just outside Wrangell.
