

Milestones
(at "The Fair of the Iron Horse",
Baltimore, September 24 to October 8)

This is the tenth of a series of twelve paintings in full color that Herbert D. Stitt, of Baltimore, has made for the covers of the Baltimore and Ohio Magazine for the Centenary Year of the railroad, now being celebrated. It depicts in the foreground the "York," built by Phineas Davis, of York, Pa., and winner of a prize of $4,000 offered in 1830 by the directors of the Baltimore and Ohio for the best locomotive submitted for practical work on the railroad. The engine looming dream-like in the background is typical of the massive modern flyer

POST CARD

PLACE
ONE CENT
STAMP
HERE

For Address Only

M
A
D
E
I
N
U
S
A

---

---

---