

TOM THUMB-1829

WHEN Peter Cooper sought to convince the directors of the Baltimore and Ohio that steam was the only logical power for their new line, he designed and built the tiny Tom Thumb which ran in the winter of 1829-30 and completely demonstrated the feasibility of the locomotive for the road.

1827

1927

Centenary Pageant

POST CARD

2-CENT
STAMP
