A Travel Thought For You---

An overnight journey on the part of most business men is not an infrequent occurrence. Transcontinental journeys, however, being less frequent, require more thought and planning. Not only the wardrobe and travel accessories but the selection of the train on which one travels is then of greater moment. Little niceties of service not necessarily remarked on a short journey contribute in a greater measure to comfort and convenience as the miles flash by on a seventy-hour schedule.

'Tis on such a journey that refinements of travel comfort have their greatest appeal—long, wide, high, comfortable berths; roomy compartments and drawing rooms; dining car service planned with the thought that you will be our guest for two or three days; complete barber shop; shower baths for men and women; valet service; maid service; manicure; hair-dresser; four o'clock tea; facilities for letter writing; magazines, supplemented with daily telegraphic news bulletin service and stock reports; a comfortable observation car with wider and higher plate glass windows opening to view the beautiful landscapes through which one passes—all combined with an interior decorative scheme designed to be restful to the eyes. Each item, in itself a trifle, contributes to a perfect transportation service.

Such is the new Oriental Limited of the Great Northern Railway, leaving Seattle daily at 8:00 P. M. for Spokane, Glacier National Park, Great Falls, Minot, Fargo, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago and all points East.

The new de luxe compartment observation car on this train contributes elegance and ease to an overland journey on this "Aristocrat of the Rails." Here the leisure hours of the day may be restfully spent enjoying the scenic beauties of the West through the broad and high observation windows, breathing in the invigorating mountain air on the spacious observation platform, or seeking diversion among the books and magazines provided for the patrons of our Pullman sleeping cars.

We shall be pleased to make reservations and otherwise serve you if you contemplate a transcontinental journey. Fill in the enclosed card and mail to me or phone

Respectfully yours,
