

NATURE'S CLASSROOM. Imagine the sparkle of delight in a child's eyes when she feeds a ground squirrel, or deer. Or sees a real live "teddy" bear at a safe distance. "Touching the face of nature" is a life-long educational experience.

QUICK! A MOUNTAIN GOAT. You've got to be fast to "snap" one of these fellows. Suddenly, you look up and there he is—sure-footed on a rocky crag—then he's gone. High on Glacier's peaks are 800 goats ready to play "peek-a-boo".

"PICTURE-BOOK" FLOWERS wink at you from the borders of 100 miles of excellent hard-surface roads. For more complete, close-up nature study—1000 miles of well-marked trails lead hikers and horse-back riders into the heart of wildlife.

Nature was lavish with Glacier Park in Montana's Rockies. Blazing red meadows of Monkey Flowers and golden Arnica invite you for a stroll. Wade chest-deep in cottony Beargrass (see cover). Follow hardy yellow glacier lilies to crests of mountains. Look for showy red Indian Paintbrush and purple Beardtongue, clothing upper slopes. More than a thousand species of wildflowers make bouquets

You can't copy anywhere else. A mountain goat clatters high above. A friendly bear "patrols" the highway seeking handouts. Look—a moose wades in a mountain lake. An elk or deer may walk up and stare at you. A coyote, golden eagle or Bighorn sheep eyes you from afar while you feed a bristly whistling marmot. Come to glorious Glacier—a wild life kingdom, shutterbug's paradise.

HIGH ON THE "BACKBONE" OF THE ROCKIES . . .

Grab a camera and head for nature's masterpiece!

Glacier National Park in Montana offers one of the most colorful vacations you've ever known. Curious animals and natural floral gardens just "beg" to be photographed. And Great Northern's streamlined Western Star takes you direct to both eastern and western park entrances.

How to get there in carefree comfort

Stretch out, relax and enjoy the scenery aboard your Great Northern transcontinental train. You arrive right in Glacier National Park rested, refreshed and ready for fun.

WESTERN STAR

In fast, daily service each way between Chicago • St. Paul • Minneapolis • Fargo • Spokane • Seattle-Portland.

Stops at both eastern and western entrances to Glacier Park, mid-June to mid-September. Diner, Coffee Shop Car, Lounge Car, reclining leg-rest seats in roomy coaches, or fine Pullmans.

CONNECTING TRANSPORTATION to other areas in Vacationland, U.S.A., can easily be arranged through Great Northern ticket and travel agents, who can also secure reservations for Glacier Park hotels and motor coaches.

FROM MOUNTAINS ...

WHATA VIEW! Mountain crests (many easily accessible by trail) and 60 active glaciers are thrilling settings for the camera fan. Here in the cool, clear, pollen-free air there is little to mar a perfect picture.

TO VALLEYS ...

OPEN TOP MOTOR COACHES wend picturesque roads with romantic names like Going-to-the-Sun Road and Blackfoot Highway. Unobstructed, you can "snap" a mountain goat high above or a splashing waterfall just ahead.

TO LAKES ...

NOW SMILE! A dozen major lakes—set like sparkling jewels in a ring of mountains and flower-filled meadows—make picture backdrops an artist would envy. You and a basket of these Mountain Daisies—what a picture!

FROM HIGHWAYS ...

"BUM" BEARS—so-called by Park people—beg handouts from visitors. Only a few of Glacier's 400 bears will sit erect and pose along the highway. Drivers obligingly stop for these entertaining acts. Don't get too close!

TO BY-WAYS ...

HOLD IT! Tame deer show up in the strangest places to have their pictures taken. Maybe at your hotel window; or wandering around your trail camp. But stand farther off to photograph "big brothers" elk and moose.

TO INDIAN CHIEF ...

HOTEL TO TEEPEE in a step. "Injun country" lies just outside modern Glacier Park Lodge. Indians pose obligingly in their owl and eagle feathers. Blackfoot Reservation, just east of the Park, can be visited.
