What the Pullman Roomette offers

THE "ROOMETTE" is a small completely enclosed, private room containing one bed, affording ideal accommodation for one person. There is a wide, roomy sofa in the daytime, offering ample lounging space and at night a bed which folds into the wall at one end of the room. The folding bed allows the passenger to make the whole room space and its complete toilet facilities available at any time. It is easy to raise or lower the bed, and balanced springs eliminate any difficulty during the operation. When the bed is made down for the night, it is fastened at the foot by a lock. This is easily released when the passenger desires to raise the bed. The length of the bed, 6 feet 5 inches, will appeal to persons over average height.

The door of the "Roomette" can be locked at night, or left open and a curtain drawn across the opening. The patron has individual regulation of ventilation, heat and light; complete toilet facilities, with washstand folding into one wall, and above it a mirrored cabinet for toilet articles, with tubular lights on each side; a locker in which to hang clothes and a niche for your golf bag; a large rack for luggage; a vacuum water bottle in cabinet, and a box from which the porter can remove shoes without disturbing the sleeper. Ceiling and reading lights of new design provide ample illumination. One daytime novelty is movable footrest, available if desired.

As the "Roomette" is completely air-conditioned the passenger can enjoy his pipe, cigar or cigarette, knowing that the smoke will be withdrawn almost immediately through a grilled outlet, and without discomfort to those in adjacent "Roomettes."

The ticket agent, conductor or Pullman porter will gladly explain all the advantages of the "Roomette" accommodation. The following typical rates show the cost of the "Roomette:"

handle down until the bed has entered its niche to the point where it is engaged by the lock, then release handle.

There is a mirrored cabinet for toilet articles, as shown in figure 6. In this cabinet you will find a vacuum water bottle with fresh, cool drinking water and glass, and an ample supply of towels. In this cabinet you will find ample room for your toilet necessities. On each side of the mirror, there is a tubular light, and above the cabinet there is a rack for luggage.
