

The General Lounge

The North Coast Limited Way

VACATION spirit begins immediately upon boarding the North Coast Limited at Chicago Union Station (9:00 p. m. Daily) or St. Paul Union Station (8:15 a. m.) The train captures one's affections even before the first meals, which are, as advertised, "famously good." Other true things about the North Coast Limited are—that it is an all-Pullman-observation car train, having talented maid, valet and barber service, card rooms, lounges for ladies and gentlemen, baths, a soda fountain and other agreeable conveniences.

Unforgettable Pictures of the Northwest

MINNESOTA'S lakes and woods. Dakota's horizon-wide harvest fields. Picturesque buttes of the Bad Lands. Montana's glistening snow peaks—the Rockies. Idaho's rivers, lakes and gorges.

The magnificent Cascades and Olympics of Washington. Rainier National Park. Puget Sound. The Columbia River Highway in Oregon. Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland.

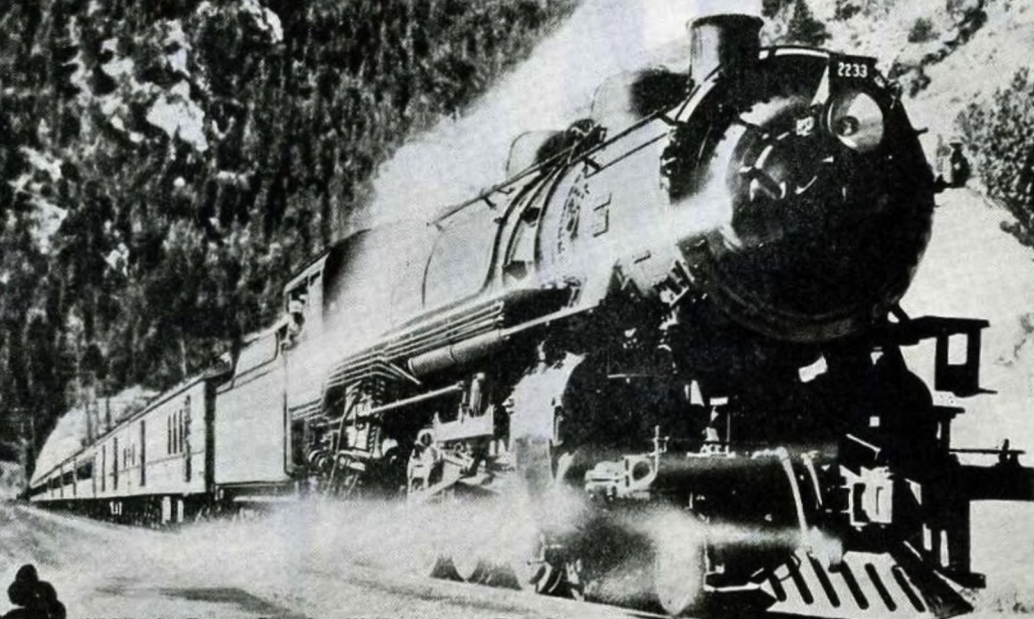

Then To California

OVER the Shasta or the new Cascade route of the Southern Pacific—through a beautiful, virgin country!

Through Oregon's primeval forests—to the summit of the Cascade Range! Blue lakes and canyons, far, far below, and wild mountain peaks out ahead as the descent begins. Then Klamath Falls—the picturesque towns of northern California—Mt. Shasta's eternal, memorable beauty—and Mt. Lassen, the volcano.

Consider the comfortable liners of the Pacific Steamship Company from the North Pacific Coast to California.

Dodging Winter

A MODERN suggestion if you are going to sunny California, or sending friends there—to include the Northwest in your itinerary. This will cost a few dollars more and will require a small number of hours extra but the experience is desirable far above that. Add to your acquaintance this year the volcanic peaks of northern California, the dense forests of lovely Oregon, the Cascades of Washington, whose slopes are as colorful as Oriental rugs, and the stupendous Rockies of Montana.
