Above:

GLENWOOD CANYON of the Colorado River is a most appropriate meeting point for the east and westbound California Zephyrs. It was in this colorful chasm, in 1944, that the idea of the Vista-Dome was first conceived.

Front Cover:

THE ROYAL GORGE of the Arkansas River—for 70 years America's Best-Loved Travel Wonder. At the narrowest point in the gorge, the canyon walls are only 30 feet apart. The world's highest bridge spans the canyon 1,053 feet above the rushing river.
