"The railroads have more than justified the confidence reposed in them by Army men."—Major General C. P. Gross, Chief of Army Transportation Corps.

"There could be no Navy without land transportation to move the tremendous quantities of materials required to build, equip and supply our ships . . . Virtually every mile of railroad is a vital part of the transportation system on which the Navy depends."—Rear Admiral William B. Young, Chief of Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, U. S. Navy.

"Too much credit cannot be given to the men and women who work on the railroads . . . the workers in the shops and yards, on the trains, in stations and offices. They're on the job in any kind of weather. They're the home-front troops of industry."—W. M. Jeffers, President, Union Pacific Railroad.
