

California means many things to many people and offers almost every kind of scenic delight and vacation attraction. There are snowy mountains, fascinating deserts and warm sea beaches. Its four National Parks are Lassen Volcanic, Sequoia, Kings Canyon and world-renowned Yosemite.

Fascinating indeed is the orange empire country of Southern California. Below a range of snowy peaks that give protection from the north, the fertile valleys lie in a sub-tropical climate. In one sweeping glance the eye views long rows of palm, eucalyptus and other warm climate trees; between and among them endless orchards of oranges, lemons and other citrus fruits; and beyond, the majestic, protective mountains.

The great cities of California are among the most interesting and romantic in the world, San Diego with its year around equable climate, Los Angeles with its nearby movie colonies, and San Francisco at the Golden Gate, redolent of pioneer and gold-rush days.

Orange Groves and Snowy Peaks—A delightful vista in Southern California's citrus fruit area.
