Compliments of the

After the festive holiday season, this is the month the winter fun program really gets into full swing. From breakfast time through the afternoon tea hour, and much later, skiing is the big topic of the day, with ice skating, warm-water swimming, Trail Creek Cabin parties, dancing and all-around good living holding their share of the limelight. Mark it on your calendar—the Sun Valley Class B and C Competition in Downhill, Slalom and Combined is usually held about the last week of the month.

Just a short sled ride away from Sun Valley proper is Trail Creek Cabin, fun center for parties on the informal side.

February . . . one of the Valley's busiest months, and one of its most delightful. The fun picture is very similar to January with, perhaps, an even heavier blanket of perfect powder snow. You'll notice sun-tanned faces taking on a deep, golden glow and both hotels are buzzing with laughter and winter sports talk, the one language universal with those who prefer their fun in the snow and sun. On or about Washington's birthday all attention is devoted to the annual Giant Slalom races—the Sun Valley Ski Club Championships.

Month of the annual Downhill and Slalom Open Competition for the Harriman Cup, one of skiing's most cherished awards. Skiing is still King and there's not a more enthusiastic group anywhere than the "Learn To Ski" Weeks classes dotting Dollar and Baldy Mountains. Chances are excellent that many March days will find you wearing less and lighter clothing skiing and skating under the big, friendly Sun Valley sun.

April days are longer and there's an exciting feeling of early spring in the air. Middle of the month opens the convention season and as anyone who has tried it knows—"What a wonderful way to make business a pleasure!" There's still good skiing during most April days but it's not unusual to hear table talk turn to the forthcoming fishing prospects . . . whittling down the golf score . . . outdoor barbecues up at Trail Creek . . . and favorite riding trails. Yes, it's going to be a great summer.

Students of all ages benefit from the expert instructors in the Sun Valley Ski School.

From skiing to warm-water swimming, mere minutes apart . . . that's living at Sun Valley!

The Cabin at the foot of Dollar Mountain is a popular rendezvous for lunch and ski-talk.

Both winter and summer, skating under the sun and stars is a popular pastime.

Winter doesn't want to quit, but Spring wins out! All around the Valley and on surrounding slopes the white, fluffy blanket gets thinner and disappears, to be replaced by nature's soft, green patchwork. Plants and trees begin to bud and the many brooks all through the Village are filling up . . . workmen are getting the tennis courts in shape . . . even the horses seem to sense that summer will soon be here.

Sun Valley spring means more ski runs each warm, perfect day.

You really feel "on top of the world" after a leisurely lunch or refreshing beverage at the Round House.

The Round House—A favorite spot for the downhill takeoff.

Where school is all play and no work—meeting place of the famous Sun Valley Ski School.

JUNE

As any June visitor knows, one of the many nice things about a summer Sun Valley vacation is the way it so perfectly pleases each person in the family. If Dad's idea of a real holiday is to fish all hours of the day, he'll find his fill in the many lakes and streams. If Mother plays golf, or likes to ride, swim or sun bathe, she'll enjoy her favorite fun more than ever in this picturesque playground. And as for the younger members? They'll probably keep "on the go" from the moment you check in.

The first of its kind—an outdoor, summer and winter ice skating rink.

You don't have to swim here to have a good time, but it surely helps.

Like a modern magic carpet, it's a thrilling experience to ride up on the Baldy Mt. electric chair ski lift.

AND THE STATE OF

This is the month when Sun Valley summer has really arrived, in all its finery. All the beautiful plants and flowers, as well as the fun, are in full bloom. Ice skating under the sun and stars on a smooth, mechanically frozen rink is an exclusive Sun Valley feature . . . the challenging golf course is laid out with nine holes and eighteen tees . . . and you'll enjoy fishing at its finest. Swimming, horseback riding, tennis and skeet and trap shooting add to the summer fun picture, and you should be in it.

First time visitors find it hard to believe how chilly

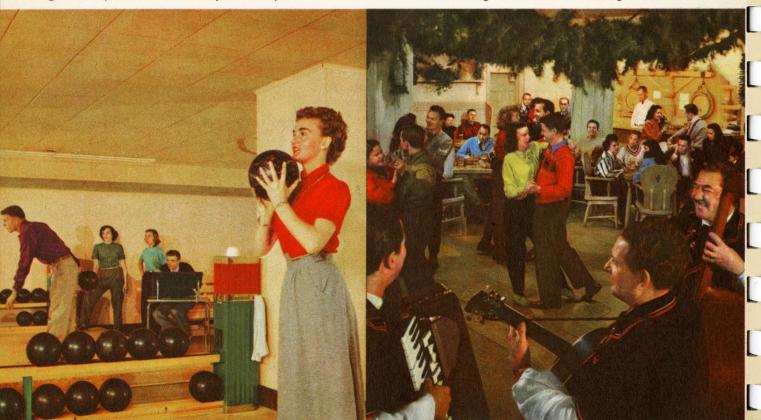

August evenings can be, and usually are, after warm, pleasant days. One thing all guests agree on is that Sun Valley is where the word "Welcome" really means something. It combines the real old-fashioned western hospitality with the most modern conveniences and fun facilities. Imagine, for instance, exploring primitive trails in the Sawtooth Mountains and ice skating an hour or two apart . . . or, attending a big barbecue out in the wilderness, then returning to your modern hotel in a matter of minutes. Sounds like living? It is — during summer at Sun Valley.

A sporty nine-hole course in this scenic setting makes golf a pleasure regardless of your score.

Highlighting fun of the indoor type is bowling in the game room, with six modern alleys to serve you.

Music, dancing, good food and fun make up the pattern of living at The Ram in Challenger Inn.

The blending greens and blues are just about ready to give way to the tans and browns of another Idaho autumn. Days as well as evenings are turning cooler and there's a lot of activity over at the skeet and trap range — hunters are sharpening their shooting eye and planning their strategy for this year's pheasant and duck hunts. Fishing guides are reporting good catches for those who venture farther out from the Village and crews are busy checking and renovating the eight electric chair ski lifts.

From archery to skating . . . swimming to sun bathing . . . Sun Valley's pleasures please all the family.

The deer season opened the first of this month and we've talked with hardly any hunter who didn't fill out. The color change all through the Valley and on the mountains is now complete and some of the more ardent skiers even imagine they can detect snow in the air. Matter of fact, there is a thin veil of white up on top of Baldy, and we know it's going to be another wonderful winter! The Office reports they are already doing a big reservations business for the holiday season.

This is the quietest month of the year, as far as a guest is concerned. While there are few activities going on in Sun Valley Village itself, many outdoor enthusiasts like to take a room in Ketchum and enjoy the relaxation of a pack trip, or try their luck during the few remaining fishing days on Snake River. And, later in the month, if the weather is typical, you can get in a few days of early skiing.

DECEMBER

During the early part of the month, there's not an idle hand on the Sun Valley staff. If you stopped by you'd see a production line of employees, polishing, painting, waxing and attending to every minute detail, all in readiness for the gala winter opening, a few days before Christmas. Almost daily the blanket of snow keeps building up and the weather report is the most important news item of the day. The ice skating rink is smooth as a crystal . . . ski runs are packed and perfect . . . and the big day is here. It's another wonderful winter at Sun Valley!

Clean, crisp and sparkling, winter's white touch transforms Sun Valley into a holiday winter wonderland.
