

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

PICTORIAL POST CARD

GOLDEN DAFFODILS AND MAJESTIC MT. RAINIER, WASHINGTON

The perpetual snows of Mt. Rainier seem to touch the clouds above Washington's fertile Puyallup Valley at daffodil time. Pacific Northwest valleys are world famed for ideal soil and climate which promote the growing of superior bulbs of many varieties. (Ray Atkeson Photo)