Burlington Route AN CHES

The Rancher and his Wranglers Welcome You to their Western Domain

friendly appellation applied to all visitors. Women guests sometimes are called "dudines."

An Introduction to Life on a Western Dude Ranch

Dude ranches served by the Burlington Route dot that ruggedly scenic section of the West straddling the Continental Divide from the Canadian border to the Colorado-New Mexico boundary.

Some are situated on the broad plains where limitless prairies challenge the horseman to ride wild and free as the winds. Others nestle in canyons' mouths where inviting trails lead up, up, up in one direction, stretch away over rolling foothills in the other. A number are hidden away in remote green valleys where towering, snow-clad peaks shut out the worries of work-a-day urban worlds.

There are ranches beside snowfed trout streams, in the fastnesses of the big game country, on the borders of Glacier, Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain and Mesa Verde National Parks, at elevations ranging from 3,300 to more than 9,000 feet.

The selection of a dude ranch depends largely upon one's requirements for an enjoyable vacation. There are big outfits and little ones; establishments with pretentious facilities for entertaining guests; ranches where dudes dine at the family board and find their entertainment in everyday chores of the

At all, however, the dude is a guest. An individual saddle horse and equipment are ordinarily at his disposal throughout his visit. Ranch hands always are ready to assist in roping and saddling, and accompany the inexperienced riders.

The cost of a dude ranch vacation is largely governed by the accommodations and services. Some ranches are comparable to fine resort hotels, yet retain a true ranch atmosphere. Others offer chiefly clean, comfortable sleeping quarters, wholesome meals, and the magnificent out-of-doors in which to enjoy oneself.

The family nature of dude ranch life has caused many owners to select their guests carefully. Reservations usually are accepted only after correspondence during which references are exchanged.

A Typical Day in a Dude Ranch Vacation

The day on a Western ranch begins before sunup. Bright and early the wranglers saddle and gallop off to nearby pastures to bring in the saddle horses. Ambitious guests, willing to quit warm beds, are welcome to go along.

Promptly following breakfast, ranch interest focuses on the corral. Dudes and dudines perch atop rail fences while the corral boss and the cowhands "bring around" the day's quota of horses.

Born to the saddle, Western ranchers take professional pride in the quality of their horses, and their ability to select mounts for every kind of rider. There are safe, gentle horses for children and those who never before straddled a saddle. There are sure-footed animals for steep mountain trails. And there are fleet, spirited mounts for those who love to gallop over the prairies.

All except experienced riders are accompanied by cowboys wise in the ways of horses and the open spaces. Novices are encouraged to accustom themselves to the saddle gradually.

Every ranch boasts of the variety and beauty of its horseback trails. Some are short, easy jogs for beginners, others are half-day or all-day jaunts to some beautiful canyon, dashing waterfall, or mountain top commanding a breath-taking view.

Often there is an all-day trip into the mountains or out onto the range to watch the cowhands at work. On such occasions, the horseback party, ravenously hungry from a morning in the saddle, arrives at noon at some picturesque spot to discover that a camp cook, who has preceded them with pack animals, has prepared a sumptuous lunch.

Guests are welcome to take all or none of these saddle trips. There are no "musts," a dude ranch being one place where everyone does what he pleases, finding congenial companionship.

Afternoons ordinarily are divided between riding, a dip in a cool, clear swimming pool, reading, napping, or the simple luxury of "just settin'." Evenings are occupied with moonlight rides, dancing and games in the recreation hall, or roasting marshmallows and singing around a blazing campfire in the cool stillness of the starry mountain night.

Some Merely Hike or Loaf

Surprisingly, life on a dude ranch holds a fascination for many who never or seldom ride. Some enjoy lounging beneath great trees or on a shady cabin porch feasting their eyes on the majestic scenery. Others prefer hiking over seldom used trails or through the "rough" to mountain tops or hidden dells. All delight in trips in the ranch car to nearby historic and scenic spots.

Always, there is quiet for reading or dozing, or congenial company for chatting, or enough to make a table of bridge.

On many ranches instructive hours can be spent watching the blacksmith and saddler plying their artful trades, or observing the preparations for the departure of a pack trip party.

Fine Food and Sound Sleep

EATING and sleeping are divine pleasures in the West. Overwhelming as the demand for both becomes, the supply is adequate.

Dining facilities on dude ranches range from a simple enlargement of the ranchhouse table to handsome dining halls seating scores of guests.

Most ranches have their own fine dairy herds and poultry flocks, and cultivate gardens of succulent vegetables. Other supplies are trucked in fresh daily from nearby towns.

Sleeping accommodations vary according to individual ranches. Most quarter their guests in rustic log cabins set sufficiently apart to insure privacy. Others provide comfortable rooms in the main ranch house, and a few offer accommodations in tents with boarded floors and sides.

Furnishings are rustic yet comfortable, and many cabins have running water and baths. Larger ranches usually have a store and recreation rooms in the main ranchhouse or in separate buildings.

Fishing and Pack Trips

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN region is world-famous for its fine trout fishing, and a short ride or hike from almost any dude ranch takes one to some well-stocked stream or lake. Next to riding, fishing is the favorite dude ranch diversion.

Most ranches offer summer pack trips ranging from a few days to a week or more. Capable packers, guides and cooks accompany all such expeditions.

Practically all dude ranches specialize during the fall seasons in guiding big game hunters. The Dude Ranch Country is the natural habitat of elk, deer, moose, antelope, Big Horn sheep, mountain goat and bear. Write to ranchers for information on open seasons and pack trip, guide and license costs.

Let Her Buck

HOME-TALENT rodeos are a favorite form of ranch entertainment. Guests are invited to join in events such as calf-roping and calf-riding.

The more expert cowboys compete in the big rodeos held each summer throughout the cattle country. Frequently, guests ride into town with the cowboys and cheer their favorites against the entries from neighboring ranches.

When It's Round-up Time

GUESTS on ranches in the late spring or early fall can witness and even participate in that spectacular cattle country institution, the round-up.

This frequently includes riding far up to mountain pastures, listening to old cowmen's yarns around the campfire, sleeping in a tent or under the stars, eating meals from the chuck wagon, witnessing the riding, roping and branding, even lending a hand.

Parks Around the Corner

Dude ranches are ideal bases from which to explore the West's great national parks. Trips can usually be made in buses of the Park transportation companies, or a ranch car with an experienced mountain driver. Some ranches specialize in summer pack trips into the parks, visiting remote beauties that the average park tourist never sees. It also is possible, at little or no additional railroad fare, to include a visit to one or more of the Western parks en route to or from a ranch.

Wildlife and Redskins

FEW RESORTS in the world have such a variety of attractions as the Dude Ranch Country. Indian bucks, squaws and papooses are common sights throughout this country. Many ranches adjoin Indian reservations where the wild days before the coming of the White Man are often re-lived at tribal ceremonies.

Choosing the Best Dude Ranch for Your Vacation

BECAUSE an ideal Western vacation should be of two weeks or more duration, careful choice of a dude ranch is of utmost importance. No two dude ranches are exactly alike, and an appropriate selection can vastly increase one's enjoyment.

Prospective guests should correspond personally with the rancher for detailed information about type of accommodations, rates, entertainment features, etc., etc. Reservations are always made in advance and the rancher advised the date and hour of arrival so the ranch car can meet the train.

Rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, a private saddle horse and its care (unless otherwise specified), guides for ordinary trips—in fact, all necessary expenses.

MANY RANCHES OPEN ALL YEAR

Don't forget that many dude ranches are open the year 'round. May, September and October are ideal weather months. Then occur the great cattle round-ups... then fishing is best and it's open season for big game... and then most ranches offer sharply reduced rates. For winter sports enthusiasts there is no grander fun than skiing over mountains robed in snow.

No elaborate wardrobe is necessary. Blue jeans, a gay shirt and ordinary cow-boy boots are probably the most popular riding apparel of both sexes. Sportswear is appropriate afternoon and evening, while cool nights recommend warm sweaters or jackets. Substantial, comfortable walking shoes and heavy hosiery also should be included. Stores in the towns of the Dude Ranch Country are admirably stocked to supply all items of Western costume.

A soft-eyed horse — your horse — is nickering for you in the corral. The great open spaces are beckoning . . . The mountain air and the solitudes are waiting to wash away your worries and cares. Go West for the most glorious and gratifying vacation of your life.
